Regional commentary

UK equity markets gained in July, supported by a combination of positive earnings, a number of takeover offers and stronger than expected second quarter GDP data. Forecasts for economic growth in the three months to the end of June averaged 0.6%, a figure that was comfortably exceeded by the preliminary reading of 1.1%, helped by improving service sector activity. A decline in unemployment added to the more positive economic data, but stubbornly high inflation and falls in consumer confidence and house prices reinforced the uncertain economic outlook. Among stocks, International Power, SSL International and Tomkins were all targets of takeover approaches. Vodafone announced improvements in service and data revenues, while strong results from Capita and British American Tobacco were accompanied by dividend increases of 15% and 19% respectively. AstraZeneca delivered positive earnings, a doubling of its share buyback to $2bn and the stock was further supported by a US advisory panel voting in favour of approving the group's Brilinta drug.

Fund strategy

In our view, the UK equity market offers the opportunity to invest in a number of quality growth companies that are materially undervalued. We hold a cautious view on the outlook for the UK economy and accordingly the fund is biased towards those businesses that have strong fundamental characteristics; a sound balance sheet, resilient and transparent earnings and the potential to deliver consistent dividend growth. At the current time, we believe that businesses within the tobacco, pharmaceutical, utility and aerospace sectors fulfil these criteria and many also earn a significant part of their revenues overseas, which reduces the fund's reliance on domestic economic conditions. As the ongoing challenges that face the economy become increasingly apparent, we expect the companies we hold to be re-rated.
